MEDIA RELEASE

15 June 2009

Travel to Kangaroo Island and take your “home away from home” for free

Whether your caravan is a luxurious home on wheels or a camper trailer the whole family can enjoy, there's no better time to visit Kangaroo Island.

Until 31 August, you can take your caravan or camper trailer on board SeaLink Travel Group's ferries to Kangaroo Island for free while campervans can travel at half price.

And to make your holiday even more enjoyable, you can book five nights and pay for just four at any of Kangaroo Island's two caravan parks, located at some of the best spots for exploring the island's attractions.

“Kangaroo Island is perfect for a caravanning holiday offering everything from foreshore, powered sites to unpowered sites where you can spot kangaroos, possums and koalas in the surrounding wilderness,” SeaLink Managing Director Jeff Ellison says.

“And winter is a spectacular time on the island with the ocean pounding rugged cliffs and sea lions bodysurfing and playing in the wild waters.

“Wildlife is active at all times of the year, the beaches are pristine and beautiful and there are some great food and wine experiences just waiting to be savoured.”

Mr Ellison says holidaymakers can also take advantage of great winter offers on daily SeaLink Tours, sitting back while an expert takes them to some of Kangaroo Island's most popular attractions such as the Koala Walk in Flinders Chase National Park and a Seal Bay Guided Tour where visitors can walk on a beach populated by Sea Lions

People travelling to Kangaroo Island without a caravan can also take advantage of some great winter deals with SeaLink's Double Deal Sale offering travellers four nights accommodation for the price of three plus free return SeaLink ferry fare for the driver.

With more than 40 participating accommodation operators to choose from ranging from self-contained apartments and holiday homes, to motels, hotels and B&Bs, there is something for everyone.

“Four days is a great amount of time for a short break so make the most of this special offer, head to Kangaroo Island with the family and get your life back,” said Mr Ellison.

The SeaLink Double Deal Sale is also only offered for a limited time with all travel to be taken before 31 August 2009.
